

2008-2009

Pennoni Honors College Course Descriptions

Honors Program Courses

HNRS 200 - Introduction to Honors Program

Offers intensive discussion of a subject of significant intellectual interest. Subjects vary from section to section and are meant to engage entering Honors students with one another under the guidance of Drexel's best faculty. Different sections may be taken for credit.

Credits: 1.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 201 - Colloquium I

Explores some of the tensions between individualism and community. Recently offered topic: Exploring the State of Humanity: Assessing Contradictory Evidence, Weighing Intriguing Options.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 202 - Sophomore Colloquium II

Explores the interdependencies among these humanly constructed institutions. Recently offered topics: Implications of the Internet; Experts and Expertise.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 301 - Colloquium II

Explores the relationship of representation to reality in literature, film, other arts, philosophy, the media, science, or some combination of these. Recently offered topics: Creative Writing Workshop; Game Theory; Representations of the Holocaust.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 302 - Honors Colloquium

Provides comparative explorations of the intellectual and expressive products of diverse cultures. Focuses on one or more of the following cultural productions: literature, the arts, religion, philosophy, architecture, and politics.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 303 - Honors Colloquium

An interdisciplinary honors colloquium drawing upon literature, literary theory, and other cultural studies including the writings of scientists and engineers. Students will explore relations among science, technology and literature from the eighteenth to the twentieth centuries by reading primary critical texts produced during this period.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 304 - Honors Colloquium

This course is organized around the idea that, in order for a human society or a social system to exist, certain features of the environment or environmental system must be maintained. The preservation and maintenance of these features requires us to regulate or restrict some of our social uses of these systems

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 305 - Honors Colloquium

Students will participate in an archaeology dig in the Philadelphia area. Details will depend on digs active at the time, but the course may include historical documentation, survey, excavation techniques and process, preservation of artifacts, cleaning, cataloging, recording, record-keeping documentation, reporting interpretation, restoration and reconstruction, as appropriate to the work on the site.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 306 - Honors Colloquium

Students will engage in an intensive study of the literary and artistic manifestations of the "Gothic". To that end, the class will read some of the major texts associated with the form from the second half of the eighteenth century to its appearance in the twentieth century literature and film. In support of the major texts critical secondary essays will also be read

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 307 - Honors Colloquium

Students will examine the context and meaning of "popular" as a product of the mass society and its technologies. They will examine and develop the ideas of the post-structural society and the socioeconomic impact of music, the organizing and communicative power of music in everyday life, and the role music plays in socio emotional development.

Credits: 3.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

HNRS 450 - Honors Directed Study

Provides independent study for honors students.

Credits: 12.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

HNRS 499 - Honors Senior Thesis

Available to students whose major does not include a senior research project.

Credits: .50 to 12.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

Leadership Courses

LEAD 100 - Intro To Leadership Develop

A study of effective leadership roles and processes, including the leader, the followers, and the situations; models of leadership in various organizations.

Credits: 2.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

LEAD 199 - Ind Study - Leadership

Independent work on a topic of interest to the student supervised by a faculty member

Credits: .50 to 4.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

LEAD 200 - Leadership Issues at Work

Leadership problems and possibilities in the workplace. Focus is on power relationship, conflicts, problems of race and gender and the role of the leader as organizer, teacher ethicist in guiding positive change.

Credits: 1.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

Pre-Requisites: LEAD 100 Minimum Grade: D

LEAD 300 - College & School-based Courses

Leadership cases, models and approaches as related to particular disciplines: e.g. leader in history; issues in engineering leadership, change in engineering; leaders, film and literature; the psychology of leadership, and others.

Credits: 1.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman

Pre-Requisites: LEAD 200 Minimum Grade: D

LEAD 400 - Relating Community & Classroom

For students with extensive community service, this course formalizes reflection on the experience through presentations, discussion and preparation of leadership portfolio.

Credits: 1.00

College: Miscellaneous

Department: Honors Program

Restrictions:

May not be enrolled in one of the following Program Level(s):

Continuing Education

May not have the following Classification(s):

Freshman