The Earle Mack School of Law

Mission

Scientia, Ars, Officium (Knowledge, Skill, Duty)

Educational objectives

The educational objectives of the Earle Mack School of Law include knowledge of the law, training in practical skills, and commitment to professionalism. The Earle Mack School of Law accomplishes these objectives through the Juris Doctor degree (J.D.) offered to full-time students. The Earle Mack School of Law offers a standard law school curriculum, to ensure that its graduates are well-equipped to pass the bar examination upon graduation and to be competent legal professionals, regardless of their particular practice areas.

Accreditation

The Earle Mack School of Law at Drexel University has been provisionally accredited by the Council of the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar of the American Bar Association, 321 North Clark Street, Chicago, IL 60610.

Students at a provisionally accredited law school and individuals who graduate while the school is provisionally approved are entitled to the same recognition given to students and graduates of fully approved law schools. Graduates of the Earle Mack School of Law will be eligible to sit for the bar exam in any jurisdiction.

About the concentrations

Drexel also builds on some of the strengths for which Drexel University is nationally known by initially offering three optional concentrations. These are areas in which there are expanding employment opportunities and a need for specialized knowledge and skills: Intellectual Property, Health, and Entrepreneurial Business. These concentrations consist not only of specialized courses taught in the classroom, but also experiential learning opportunities such as co-ops and simulations.

For additional information about the Earle Mack School of Law visit the College's web site at <http://www.drexel.edu/law>.

The Juris Doctor (J.D.) Degree

About the J.D. program

Students spend their first year on campus learning the foundation of legal analysis, skills, and professionalism. The program includes traditional first-year courses, such as contracts and criminal law. It also includes a comprehensive legal methods course, taught by full-time faculty, that instructs students on the fundamentals of legal writing and analysis, as well as a class on interviewing, counseling, and negotiation.

The cooperative education program

The cooperative education program allows second- and third-year students to spend two quarters at a designated placement. The goal of the program is to provide students with an integrated learning experience that will ensure that they are prepared for the complexities of modern-day practice.

Law school co-op placements average 20 hours per week for two consecutive quarters. Placements include judicial chambers, private law firms, in-house counsel offices, and non-profit organizations. Students are not paid for their work but will instead receive 5 academic credits each quarter for their co-op experiences and 2 credits for a lawyering practice seminar that must be taken in conjunction with the co-op. Students should take at least 4 other academic credits in each quarter in which they are enrolled in the co-op. Co-ops are encouraged as part of the integrated law school experience, but are not required.

Students have their first opportunity for a co-op experience in the fall quarter of their second year. To ensure the appropriateness of a placement, students must have a cumulative grade point average of 2.500 in order to be placed in a co-op.

Examinations

Grades in many law school courses are based solely on a final examination. Most final examinations are taken at designated dates and times (e.g., 3 or 4 hours), and others are take-home examinations. Exam questions are primarily in essay format, but some questions may be in another format (e.g., multiple choice). Writing and skills classes often include multiple assignments to determine a final grade.

Health Law Concentration

23.0 quarter credits

Health law is a rapidly growing area of legal practice, reflecting a range of factors. Health care is a highly regulated industry, reflecting the billions of federal, state and private dollars spend on the delivery of health care services. Biotechnology, medicine, and the pharmaceutical industries are this region's primary economic growth markets. The "graying" of America (and Pennsylvania in particular) requires new ways of dealing with the legal and medical problems of the elderly, new ethical problems, new expectations for health care and assisted living, and compliance with a host of federal, state and local laws, ordinances, and regulations.
